WELCOME

Our audience looks for the type of high quality resources you provide. Successful events require the whole experience to be engaging. The combination of attendees, speakers, and the staff of the D6 Conference offer a ministry focused experience unlike any other. From conversations in the hallway to exploring the exhibits to find resources, attendees can invest as much as half the price of registration in resources from our partners. Ask anyone—the D6 Conference provides much more than engaging speakers; it connects attendees, sponsors, and exhibitors to others with similar challenges and provides answers to felt needs. You and your organization offer a true value to our attendees. Exhibitors bring solutions and resources to leaders who come looking for such answers.

People seek out conferences based on needs in their church, areas to strengthen, or initiatives to start. A speaker may provide a game plan, but exhibitors offer the tools and resources to implement the plan. We are selective with who exhibits, and we are excited to see how you will solve issues and create growth. When attendees wander through the exhibits, remember that while they may be lead pastors, student ministers, children's directors, worship leaders, and family pastors, most are also parents, husbands, wives, or grandparents.

The exhibitors who have the greatest success connecting are those who approach the attendees rather than sitting waiting for them to approach you. Now you can experience why exhibitors and sponsors return year after year to grow their reach with some of the best churches in the world. We love that you have decided to invest in D6 attendees so they can in return invest in you.

Finally, while you are here to work your exhibit, please pause to take in a couple of speakers you are interested in hearing. When listening, take off your exhibitor hat and put on your family hat to see what God says to you. As one of our exhibitors, we give you full access to all sessions because we know this time will benefit you as much as exhibiting helps your organization.

Thanks for being a part of the D6 Conference.

Derek Altom
D6 Conference Director

In 2004, D6 Family Ministry launched what has become known as D6 Curriculum, based on Deuteronomy 6, with the purpose of connecting churches and homes to equip parents and their children for generational discipleship. This powerful and effective approach led the leaders at D6 Family Ministry to host an event designed for families and ministry leaders interested in family ministry. Providing resources to our attendees has always been a priority, so we hope you will be a part of this story as we seek to connect the gospel to all generations.

Everywhere I travel around the country I meet people who attended D6. They consistently tell me how challenged, equipped, and motivated they were by the conference. It's clear that God is using the conference to equip people today to have a fantastic impact on their communities.
